

We are looking for a Senior Software Backend Engineer to join Appknox, a leading mobile application security company based in Bengaluru. In this role, you will contribute to backend projects, collaborate with cross-functional teams, and help shape our backend architecture using technologies like Python and Django.

At Appknox, we focus on delivering high-quality security audits for businesses and mobile developers, serving Fortune 500 clients across various regions. Our dynamic environment encourages innovation, autonomy, and technical excellence, making it an exciting place to grow your career.